

GOPIO-CT invites you to a seminar on The Other One Percent: Indians in America

By

Prof. Devesh Kapur

Director of the Center for the Advanced Study of India (CASI)
University of Pennsylvania

(talk based on Professor Kapur's book of the same title, Oxford University Press, 2016)

Dr. Devesh Kapur was appointed Director of the Center for the Advanced Study of India (CASI) at the University of Pennsylvania in 2006. He is Professor of Political Science at Penn, and holds the Madan Lal Sobti Chair for the Study of Contemporary India. Prior to arriving at Penn, Professor Kapur was Associate Professor of Government at the University of Texas at Austin, and before that the Frederick Danziger Associate Professor of Government at Harvard. His research focuses on human capital, national and international public institutions, and the ways in which local-global linkages, especially international migration and international institutions, affect political and economic change in developing countries, especially India.

Friday, June 16th, 2017, 6:30 PM

PROGRAM

6.30 p.m. Reception with wine/Appetizers
7.15 p.m. Talk and Q/A
8.30 p.m. Indian Dinner

Stamford Hampton Inn and Suites

26 Mill River Street, Stamford, CT 06902
Tel: +1 203-353-9855

ADMISSION - FREE

Seating is limited. However, need to register by calling anyone below or by sending an e-mail.

For more information please contact:

Anita Bhat – 203-524-2935, Pradeep Govil – 203-216-2980, Shelly Nichani – 203-550-7747
Bhavna Juneja – 203-3261194, Biru Sharma 203-804-9666, Prasad Chintalapudi – 203-904-4572 and Dr. Thomas Abraham – 203-329-8010, or e-mail at gopio@optonline.net

